

I was able to get pretty close to this Ghost Crab.

The tires float on top of all the sand, unlike the bicycles. I had no digging in at any location. In part, because the motors don't allow for any significant slippage. One of the bikes had a flat from thorns.

This required experienced piloting skill. I have over 200 miles of off-road miles on the machine. I needed to evaluate route, sand density, and flora and fauna. I choose a route which appeared like it had been accessed by a 4-wheeler. This is not within the skill level of a beginner! (Black line route.)

The route was not obvious from the start. I came back out the way
I came in.

Sample of footprint.
The wind blew
away any trace of the track within a few minutes.

Marine Debris: I had no way to carry so I brought to main road in the hope the staff would pick up on rounds. I will bring a bag next time.

Washed out road.
Was not able to access- note foot prints.

Fabulous day- Thank you. 😊
